Dear 2010 Public Transportation Conference Presenter,

I want to sincerely thank you for your time and considerable effort in giving a presentation at the Public Transportation Conference in Spokane this past September. As everyone's budget and ability to travel are limited to varying degrees, I am especially grateful for your contribution and willingness to share your experience and expertise.

The presentations and more importantly the presenters are the spark that truly give life to the whole event, and make the experience special and memorable for everyone in attendance. Without your presence and enthusiasm for your topic, there is no doubt the conference would not be the informative gathering of our partners and friends, and the tradition it has become.

Thank you again for helping to build momentum, serve people, and connect our communities. I hope to see you again next time!

Sincerely,
